Construction contractors and lower-tier subcontractors and suppliers doing business with the City are required to electronically submit compliance data on B2Gnow and LCP Tracker. B2Gnow is a payment confirmation and M/WBE tracking software. LCP Tracker is a software that manages certified payrolls and workforce utilization. This seminar will provide an overview of both web-based programs and how they are used by both the City and the contractors.

Presenter:

Shatorah Donovan is an attorney and Chief Diversity Officer for Mayor Brown’s Office of Diversity, Opportunity, and Inclusion. As an attorney, Ms. Donovan practiced immigration law from a holistic perspective. She assisted business owners and professionals attain status in the United States, but most dear to her heart was helping individuals and families from around the world fight for their most basic human right- the right to live without fear and persecution. As Chief Diversity Officer for the City of Buffalo she is focused on creating and enhancing opportunities for historically disadvantaged populations. She does this through economic development, education, and policy implementation. She believes that Buffalo’s prosperity will be sustained through abundant inclusion.
