For this presentation, Tony & Dan with Adams and Leclair LLP will give practical advice from the perspective of two claims attorneys about:

- When and how to recognize and give notice of potential delay claims,
- When to request time extensions and
- How to protect yourself from paying for delays for which you aren't responsible.

Presenters:

Tony Adams - A founding partner of the firm, has been in private practice since completing a clerkship for New York State Supreme Court Justice David O. Boehm in 1983. Tony has been selected to "Super Lawyers" and is recognized by "Best Lawyers of America" for construction law plus commercial, construction, and trusts and estates litigation. He has been named "Lawyer of the Year" by "Best Lawyers" seven times in either construction law or construction litigation.

Dan Adams - A founding partner of Adams Leclair LLP, has been engaged in construction law, contracts and commercial litigation since earning his J.D. degree from Albany Law School in 1996. He has been selected to "Super Lawyers" for his experience in construction law and is recognized by "Best Lawyers of America" for construction law and litigation, plus commercial litigation. Dan appears regularly in state and federal courts throughout New York, as well as before arbitrators and mediators.
