The City, in conjunction with Erie County, issues a certification to qualifying Minority or Woman Owned Business Enterprises. This certification is recognized jointly by both the City and the County. This seminar will explain the joint certification process, what business enterprises are eligible for certification, resources to assist with the certification application process, as well as the benefits of becoming certified.

Presenter:

Shatorah Donovan is an attorney and Chief Diversity Officer for Mayor Brown’s Office of Diversity, Opportunity, and Inclusion. As an attorney, Ms. Donovan practiced immigration law from a holistic perspective. She assisted business owners and professionals attain status in the United States, but most dear to her heart was helping individuals and families from around the world fight for their most basic human right- the right to live without fear and persecution. As Chief Diversity Officer for the City of Buffalo she is focused on creating and enhancing opportunities for historically disadvantaged populations. She does this through economic development, education, and policy implementation. She believes that Buffalo’s prosperity will be sustained through abundant inclusion.
